WHO WANTS BLUE
EYED BABY GIRL?

Dolly's Mamma Left Her Out on Texas Street Last June and Has Never Come Back to Claim Her.

Out at 1006 Texas street there is a blue eyed baby girl of 2 years that needs a home. Her mother left her there last June when she was still nursing. Mrs. S. E. Irwin at that time conducted a boarding house for children and she took her in. The mother, who said her name was Mrs. Anna Singg, left Dolly, that is the baby's name, in the care of Mrs. Irwin. She only two weeks' board for her and promised to return, but she has not reappeared.

The father is in Colorado Springs. He and the mother of the baby separated. He went to Colorado, the mother went to East Texas, and the baby was left in El Paso.

Last November Mrs. Irwin tried to get some one to adopt the child. A man presented himself and even went into court to get the baby, but Mrs. Irwin would not let him have her, because, she said, she did not like his looks.

The care of looking after a large house, where there are many families, is too great. Again she seeks some one to adopt the child. But she insists, the baby must be taken away from El Paso. Somewhere that she will get plenty of fresh air and sunshine. She must go into a home where she will be cared for.

"With a man's work and a woman's to do, I cannot give her the care she needs," said Mrs. Irwin to an El Paso Herald reporter Monday. "I will miss her; anyone would miss the clasp of a baby's hands about her throat, but I have a girl of 14 of my own in school, and all this work to do. The baby will be a good, kind people will come and get her."
